Tèxtils.CAT presents the online training course of the European project DESTEX

The program is made up of different thematic blocks focused on promoting creative design within the advanced textile materials sector.

Tèxtils.CAT, the catalan cluster of advanced textile materials, collaborates in the DESTEX project, which aims to promote the culture of creativity as a catalyst for innovative potential in the sector of advanced textile materials, focusing on the advanced manufacturing industry.

It does so through the development of a virtual learning platform that revolves around topics such as sustainable product design, market analysis, prototyping tools, digital and 3D printing, storytelling, Design Thinking, etc.
